SPECIAL HOLIDAY DISPLAY WINDOWS AND COLORING

CONTEST HELD AT THE ANNEX

The Annex, a consignment shop conveniently located at 50 North Railroad Street in Palmyra, is featuring hand-made Christmas displays in their storefront windows to welcome the holiday season. One of their local antique and collectible vendors, Katy Firestone, will be presenting a teddy bear village displayed on an 8' by 8' platform. This display features a bear family hosting Christmas day dinner at their home in the Appalachian Mountains while all of their relatives are coming to share dinner followed by ice-skating and skiing. Our other storefront window will display a traditional Christmas scene with a tree, fireplace, and presents. The windows will be ready for display on November 3rd.

The Annex is also having a coloring contest for children of all ages. The contest is open from November 3rd thru December 24th and coloring pages can be picked up at The Annex starting November 3rd. Artwork submitted will be judged in the appropriate age group and winners will be notified on December 28th, 2009. This year's prize will be art supplies.

Bring the whole family to see our holiday windows and browse the store. We have new and used furniture, antiques, collectibles, home décor, craft supplies, household items, books, and pottery and rustic pine furniture imported from Mexico.
